You can apply for Families First, Food Stamp, or Medicaid/TennCare Standard benefits online or at a DHS office. An application must be completed. You must give us proof of who you are, your income, and other facts needed to approve your application. If you need help getting proof, ask your DHS caseworker.

Anyone in the household applying for Families First, Food Stamp benefits, or Medicaid/TennCare Standard benefits must give us a Social Security Number and citizenship or immigration status.

- If you do not have a Social Security number, we can help you ask for one.
- If you have a Social Security number, and you are a U.S. citizen, legal alien, or eligible immigrant, then you must apply for benefits if you are a mandatory family member.
- DHS does not need Social Security numbers or citizenship/immigration status for household members not applying for benefits.

If you are applying for help from DHS, we may give your Social Security Number to:

- Police who are looking for lawbreakers when the law allows or requires us or a court orders us to do so.
- Other federal or state agencies if the law allows or requires us to do so.

How long do we take to decide about your application?

- Medicaid: We take either 45 or 90 days to decide if you can receive benefits. Your caseworker will tell you which decision time applies to you. TennCare Standard may take longer.
- Families First cash payments: We have 45 days to decide if you can receive them.
- Food Stamps: Usually we have 30 days to decide and to give you Food Stamp benefits if you qualify.
- To make a decision on time, DHS must have your help to get all the proof we need.

Food Stamps Information:

Food Stamp benefits won't change your Families First benefits. If your Families First cash payments stop, you may still receive Food Stamps. But if you start receiving Families First, your Food Stamp benefits may go down. You will be notified of this change; however, you may receive this notice less than ten days before your Food Stamps go down.

Your Food Stamps benefit may end if you:

- Lie or hide facts to get Food Stamp benefits;
- Use someone else's Benefit Security Card without their permission;
- Buy things with Food Stamp benefits like beer, cigarettes, or soap.

If you break these rules, you will not get Food Stamp benefits for:

- 1 year the first time.
- 2 years the second time.
- Forever the third time.

If you trade Food Stamp benefits for drugs. You can be cut off for:

- 2 years the first time.
- Forever the second time.

You will be cut off the Food Stamp Program forever if a court finds you guilty of:

- Trading Food Stamp benefits for guns, ammunition, or explosives.
- Selling Food Stamp benefits worth $500 or more.

You will not get Food Stamp benefits for ten (10) years if you lie about who you are or where you live in order to receive Food Stamp benefits.

If you do not follow your Families First plan, we may cut your Families First cash payments or your Food Stamp benefits may be reduced.

If you do not report your work income or are found guilty of breaking Food Stamp Program rules on purpose, you may have to pay back money if you get too many Food Stamp benefits.

People who break these rules may go to prison, be charged under federal laws, or be fined up to $10,000.

Some household members must register for work if they want to receive Food Stamps. Your worker will tell you who in your household must register to qualify. If this happens, you will have to go to the Department of Labor and Workforce Development (DOLWD) for an interview. They will ask you about your past work and will help you prepare to get a job.

You may get more Food Stamp benefits if you have proof of these kinds of expenses:

- Medical
- Child or dependent care
- Child support
- Housing or utilities

Your DHS caseworker can help you get proof. But you must report the expense and give us proof. If you don't tell us about these expenses and give us proof, we will assume you do not want the deduction and you won't get more Food Stamp benefits.

Families First Information:

If you get Families First cash payments you don't qualify for, you must pay the State back. You can:

- Pay from your Families First cash payments.
- Pay in cash, if you don't receive Families First.

If you lie or hide facts to get Families First cash payments, you can be taken to court. You may be charged with perjury (lying under oath), theft or another crime, and may be sentenced to time in jail. If you break Families First rules on purpose, we call this an Intentional Program Violation. If you are found guilty, you could be cut off Families First for:

- 6 months the first time
- 1 year the second time
- Forever the third time

It is illegal to get cash payments in two states at the same time. Anyone who does this may be cut off cash payments for 10 years.

Your children can get Families First OR Food Stamps benefits but you cannot if you are:

- A fleeing felon
- A parole or probation violator
- Found guilty after August 22, 1996, of a drug-related felony, unless you meet a specific exception. Your caseworker can give you more information about the exception.

To get Families First cash payments, you must sign and follow a Personal Responsibility Plan. This plan may require you to go to a work-related activity.

Important information about Child Support and Families First:

You may be able to get Families First cash payments and child support at the same time. If you get Families First, you must help us prove who the child's father is. You must also work with us to collect child support for the children on Families First. We won't try to collect support if you prove there is a good reason not to do so. All child support must go first to DHS. If the parent gives you money directly, you must send it to DHS. You may be able to get some or all of the child support back. We call these payments child support pass-through payments.

The amount of your child support pass-through payment depends on both your "unmet need" and the amount of child support paid. We figure your unmet need based on:

- How many people the Families First cash payment covers
- How much other income you have

You can ask your DHS caseworker how much your unmet need is.

Medicaid/TennCare Standard Information:

- You are responsible for providing Medicaid/TennCare Standard with any changes in your address or income.
- Don't let anyone else use your Medicaid/TennCare Standard card. You may have to pay the State back for the other person's medical bills.
- You may have to work with us to get the absent parent(s) to pay medical bills or insurance for your children.
- You must sign over to the State any reimbursement you get for medical treatment paid for by Medicaid/TennCare Standard. By law the money belongs to the State. If you don't turn it over to the State, you may lose your TennCare benefit, be charged with a crime, and be sued in court for the money.
- If the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation, Office of Inspector General, or any other agency contacts you about Medicaid/TennCare Standard fraud or abuse, you must help them.
- Medicaid/TennCare Standard must share financial and personal information in order to run its program. They share it only as the law requires or permits. Everyone who sees your information must follow all state and federal laws about keeping your information private.
- If we need to gather medical information to find out if you can get or keep Medicaid/TennCare Standard, we will give you a special form (a HIPPA release) that will let us ask for your medical information

- If you own or lease a home outside the State of Tennessee, you may not be eligible for benefits.
- If you receive public assistance outside the State of Tennessee other than unemployment benefits, you are not eligible for Medicaid/TennCare Standard.
- You must report any change to the information you provide to DHS within ten (10) days of the change. This includes changes in address, family size, assets, employment, income, marital status, eligibility for participation in Medicare, or availability of group health insurance.
Tell your caseworker about changes right away. Then mail a report of change letter to the DHS local office within thirty (30) days of the change. Include copies of any supporting papers with the report of change letter. If you fail to report changes timely, you will have to pay TennCare for any benefits improperly paid on your behalf and/or any premium underpayment.
- If you have TennCare Medicaid coverage, you must tell DHS when you sell or give away assets. You must also tell DHS when you take out a mortgage or home equity loan on your home.
- It is against the law to lie or hide facts on this application or in your interview. Telling lies or hiding facts about things like income, where you live, or other types of insurance you have, could result in an investigation by the Office of the Inspector General.
- If the State pays for medical bills or for nursing home care for you, the State may get money back that you owe. When you die, the State may take money that you owe from your estate.

If you purchased an annuity on or after February 8, 2006, the Deficit Reduction Act (DRA) requires the State of Tennessee to be:

- Named as the remainder beneficiary in the first position for at least the total amount of medical assistance paid; or
- Named as such a beneficiary in the second position if there is a community spouse and/or a minor disabled child.

Under certain circumstances, buying an annuity may be treated as a disposal of assets for less than fair market value and this can affect whether you can get TennCare or Medicaid. Your caseworker will be able to give you the details regarding disposals for less than fair market value.

Do you want to apply to vote in the next election?

Federal and state law requires that we ask if you want to register to vote. We must ask you this question any time you apply or re-apply for benefits, when you are recertified for benefits, or if you call to tell us you have moved. We will help you to fill out all the forms.

Voter Registration Information:

- The benefits you may receive from DHS will not change whether you register to vote or not.
- We can help you apply. The decision to get help is yours. You may fill out the form in private.
- You may file a complaint with the Coordinator of Elections, Secretary of State's Office, 900 William R. Snodgrass Tennessee Tower, Nashville, TN 37243, 1-615-741-7956, Tennessee Relay Center, 1-800-848-0299, if you believe:
 - Someone has interfered with your right to register or to decline to register to vote.
 - Someone has interfered with your right to privacy in deciding whether to register or in applying to register to vote.
- If you choose to register or decline, we will not tell anyone outside the election commission about your choice or where you applied. We will only use this for registration purposes.
- You can't vote until you get your voter registration card. If you do not have the card in three weeks, check with the Election Commission.
- The County Election Commission will see if you are able to register to vote. This is not done by DHS or the TennCare Bureau.
- If you mail your application to your county election commission, you must vote in person the first time you vote.

- We will mail you a “Mail-In Application for Voter Registration” form within 30 days if you are telling us by phone or internet about:
 - An address change
 - An application
 - A re-application
 - A re-certification
 - A review

If the deadline to register is less than 30 days away, we will mail the form to you within 5 days or the next work day if we can.
